For my screen project I want to make some kind of interactable art piece or game that people can use. I don't plan on working on this as a team with anyone so it will just be me. I haven't figured out the specifics of it yet though.